

Insurance cover for the employer's obligation to continue to pay wages to sick employees

You start business activities in the Netherlands from abroad. To explore the market and start locally, you hire an employee or a small team of employees in the Netherlands. You see formally establishing a company in the Netherlands as premature at this time and your company is not registered with the Dutch Chamber of Commerce. You use a payroll company in the Netherlands to handle legal matters and payroll administration.

Insurance cover for sickness absence despite not being registered with the Chamber of Commerce?

You enter into an employment contract under Dutch law. This means - in the event of an employee's illness - that you have to continue paying wages/salary for 24 months. The financial impact is significant, particularly in the case of a start-up.

We (www.vanluin.nl) are an insurance consulting firm that specialises in insurance for foreign companies (and their employees). We can offer a short time illness insurance even if a foreign company is not registered with the Dutch Chamber of Commerce. We do this for many foreign companies starting up in the Netherlands every year.

Supporter of

Internationaal
verzekeren.nl

How can we help you arrange a short time illness insurance?

When you contact us, we will inform you about the options open to you for taking out a short time illness insurance. After the initial analysis, we send you a quotation that specifies the coverage and the premium. After submission of the requested documents and receipt of your approval, we arrange a short time illness insurance for your employees within two weeks at the latest.

We can also assist you with other employee insurances

We can also help you set up a pension plan or additional disability insurance for your employee(s).

Geert-Jan Brouwer
Employee Benefits Adviser
geertjan@vanluin.nl

Corinne van Vuuren
Employee Benefits Adviser
corinne@vanluin.nl

*A short time illness insurance pays out when your employee is sick. We need the following information to produce a quote: the industry in which you are active and the position, age and salary of your employee(s).

On receipt of this information, we will send you a quote within 5 business days. The quote includes services in the area of occupational health and safety.

If you approve the quote, we will charge a one-off consulting and administrative processing fee.

Are you interested in more information? You can contact us for more information by phone on +31 (0)30-2326321, via info@vanluin.nl or by sending an email to our personal email addresses.

Would you like to receive a direct quote to find out what this insurance cover will cost in your situation? Please send us the information highlighted in the box* by email!